One can stand in Point Park and see all of Lookout Valley, William's Island and the great bend in the Tennessee river. It imitates a large horseshoe very much. You can see where the great "buttle above the clouds" was fought. There is a large monument erected there, the "Peace Monument." I also went in the War Relic Museum" and saw several things which were very curious to me. There were old sabers, guns, canteens, cannon balls, Bragg's water bucket, General Grant's chair that he used at Orchard Knob in 1863, and General Thomas' table which he used at Chickamauga. I can't give a description of everything I saw while I was there. It makes one feel sad to see those old relics and realize what a hard time the poor soldiers had in time Valley Bird. of the war.

REPLY TO JOE HACKWORTH'S ARGU-MENT FOR NOT PAYING PREACHERS.

Editor News: As we have never said that the church of Christ was not to give a free gospel to a lost and perishing world, we en-ter a reply this week. We know that the church should support the ministry of Christ and through it give a free gospel to sinners, who are not supposed to support the ministry, because not members of the church. It is the duty of the church to relieve the necessity of the saints for 1 John 3:17 says. But whose bath this world's goods, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him." We learn from the pre-ceeding verse of Scripture that if we have means to help our needy, unfor-tunate brother and will not do it, that the love of God is not in us. Paul's scriptural plan in which he com-manded the church at Corinth concerning the collection of the saints was for every one upon the first day of the week to lay by him in store as God prospered him to avoid collection when Paul came. (1 Cor. 16:12.) This plan that God gave Paul by revelation is not a man made plan but was given to the church by command.

was given to the church by command-ment or order for the collections of saints. If the church neglects a needy saint in any degree, she neglects Christ. (Matt. 25:45.) Paul did not excuse any of the Corinthian brethren from this duty, but said, "Let everyone of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him." It is God that gives power to get wealth, (Deut. 8: 18). We notice from Deuteronomy 16: 17 that no man was excused from giving. Every man was to give as he was able, according to the blessings of the Lord which were given him. From the above facts we learn that it was a duty to contribute to the Lord's cause, both under Old Testament and Gospel dispensations. When Moses stood on top of a hill in Rephidim with the rod of God in his hand, Israel prevailed against Ameleck just so long as Moses held up his hands. When his hands became heavy Aaron and Hur took a stone and put it under him, and he sat thereon and Aaron and Hur stayed up his hands, the one on the one side and the other on the other side, and his hands were steady until the going down of the sun. Joshua discomfited Amelek and God told Moses to write this for a memorial in a book and re-hearse it in the ears of Joshua. (Ex. 17:10,14.) The grand reason for Aaron and Hur staying up the hands of Moses was Israel failed in battle when Moses' hands were not up. As national Israelites failed only when Moses' hands were not up, so will the spiritual Israel fail when she fails to stay up God's ministry by support, which he means for her to give. Perhaps some may say God never loses a battle. True God himself never does, but his boys in uniform sometimes do. The army in the intrenchment is the one that fails. She may have a brave commander, yet if she lies entrenched and does not assist in the cause for which he is battling the battle is lost for lack of support. Had not Aaron and Hur stayed up Moses' hands Israel never would have prevailed against Amalik and the battle would have been lost on account of failing to perform duty. If God's ministers are supported by the church so they can give themselves continually to prayer and the ministry of the Word, there would be more converted men and women and the army of the Lord would be strengthened thereby. If preachers are forced to earn a living and preach to churches the church can't be so flourishing be-cause they can't give the time to them that they ought to have. No business man wants to employ a man that is serving three or four churches, as his business would suffer on account of his absence We pity the man who would be silly him not to live of their services. God prospers his church and through this church prosperity means for his ministry to have support. I know this is true for Paul commanded the church of Corinth to lay by in store upon the first day of the week as God had prospered them. God prospers his church and if any members whom God has prospered fails to give of their means, they will certainly fail to do their duty in this respect by not contributing to the necessity of the saints, which is bound to be the cause of Christ. The man who thinks preachers preach just for money has an extremely base opinion of the ministry of Christ. Money with those called of God is a second consideration. I have never known a preacher to refuse the products of the soil. They are workmen that can eat what others do. Jesus said that the workman was worthy of his hire, hire means nothing short of the neces sities of life, (Luke 10:7.) because Jes-us contrasted with the true shepherd one who works for hire and has no personal interest in the sheep for they Only some belong to the shepherd. fail to get the import of his language. Sheep tending was a very extensive business in Palestine and it was only to those actually hired men employed by those Palestine shepherds that Jesus referred to and not to the true and faithful minister who labors for the salvation of souls, and is given a few dollars by some kind church or kind soul that has enough of the love of God in his heart not to shut up his bowels of compassion from him. It is reasonable to suppose that the owner of a Palestine herd of sheep cared more for them than any one he may employ. All of Jesus' hearers were familiar with the details of caring for sheep. Since christian people are sometimes called sheep they must of necessity have a shepherd and a sheepfold, for Jesus said, "There shall be one fold and one shepherd." John 10:16. The one shepherd is Christ who alone owns the sheep and they should abide in him (John 15:4.) God, the Father, gave his son Jesus the sheep and no man is able to pluck them out of his father's hand (John 10:29.) If God gave Christ the sheep and none are able to pluck them out of his Father's hand, they safely and securely rest in his hands. Jesus may and does have sheep feeders weighed five pounds.

who feedeth a flock and eateth not of the milk of the flock."-1 Cor. 9:7. You say, Joe, that we said that and that we ought to have stayed with it. Don't you think for a moment that we don't stay with what we say. We said that Paul made the Gospel without charge to the Corinthians (1. Cor. 9:18), and that he took wages of other churches to do them service. (2 don't ask any money for my preaching. Cor. 11:7.) That is what we said. Why did you drop the phrase "to the where the people wanted me to come Corinthian brethren." It told to to Shadrick's Hill at Tracy to preach church at Corinth service, did he?
